Community First

The Mobile Museum community outreach workshops bring museum learning to you with pop-up programs in your school or organization! All programs can be adapted to accommodate adult learners, multi-age groups, or for any accessibility needs.

Our programs are one-of-a-kind interactive learning opportunities that combine local history with creativity. You can expect to handle artifacts, get creative, and make discoveries!

BRINGING OUR STUDIO TO YOU

Creativity Workshops

Handbuilding with Clay

Using air-dry clay, explore fundamental modelling techniques, form, line, and texture, starting with a simple pinch pot while exploring the history of Canadian Indigenous pottery. Then, using these techniques, design and model a textured clay animal sculpture. You will have two clay projects to keep.

Recommended for age 5+

LIFE LONG LEARNING

Museum Memories Talks

Our museum interpreter will come to you for a fun session of sharing, and learning. Get social, share your stories and explore history!

With our collection of touchable artifacts we will explore Lincoln's history hands-on. Participants will engage with original and replica objects from the collection and respond to them creatively and collaboratively. Through facilitated discussion we can explore how life has changed and what has stayed the same through the centuries!
